

Output:

```

COM4
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1022
Brightness0
sensor val1008
Brightness3
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1017
Brightness1
sensor val1945
Brightness19
sensor val896
Brightness31
sensor val842
Brightness45
sensor val853
Brightness42

```

☒ Autoscroll ☐ Show timestamp

Newline 9600 baud Clear output

Search the web and Windows

3:28 PM 29-Mar-18

The screenshot shows a Windows terminal application with the title bar "COM3". The main area contains the following text:

```

sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1021
Brightness0
sensor val1020
Brightness0
sensor val1020
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0
sensor val1023
Brightness0

```

At the bottom of the terminal window, there is a status bar with several controls:

- ☒ Autoscroll
- ☐ Show timestamp
- Newline (dropdown menu)
- 9600 baud (dropdown menu)
- Clear output (button)

The Windows taskbar is visible at the very bottom, showing icons for various applications and the system clock indicating 3:29 PM on 29-Mar-19.